

Living Wall

What is a Living Wall?

1. A living wall is a space where your visuals, research, suggestions and thoughts can be laid out. This 'collage' or form of creating visuals for your process and project aids for a better overview of things and easier comprehension of what sometimes can be complicated interconnections.

Capturing and updating research on a living wall – and quite literally taking a step back to take it in – can spark new ideas.

Again, here, visualising your project – however simplistically – enhances understanding.

